

RECORD STILL IS SEIZED HERE

John Wilson the Operator
Sentenced to Pay Fine of $299

After pleading guilty to manufacturing moonshine whiskey John Wilson, 24 years of age, residing at West Ogden, was sentenced to pay a fine of $299 or to serve 180 days in jail by City Judge D. R. Roberts this morning.

Wilson was arrested yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Richard Pincus and Deputy Sheriff O. H. Mohlman at his place of residence at West Ogden where the officers said they discovered and confiscated one of the largest stills ever unearthed in the county.

Deputy Sheriff Mohlman testified in court this morning that the still was in a cave that had been dug out of the ground apparently for the purpose of concealing all of the necessary equipment for manufacturing whiskey. It was one of the most complete sets of apparatus he said, ever taken in a raid in the county and had a capacity of 30 gallons per day.

They also found three gallons of moonshine whiskey and a large quantity of mash. He testified that the still was being made by Wilson and that he had been making the whiskey for the past three weeks and that he had started making whiskey because he had been unable to obtain employment.

LOCKE TALKS TO SPORTSMEN

More than twice as many as were able to gain admission were turned away from the Salt Lake theatre last night which was crowded with those that came to view five reels of moving pictures dealing with hunting and fishing and presented under the auspices of the Salt Lake County Fish and Game Protective association, according to S. R. Locke, of the forest service who returned from there today.

It is estimated that at least 2,000 persons gained admittance.

OGDEN MEN SPEAK
The speakers were Rev. Elmer I. Goshen, formerly of Ogden, Mr. Locke and David H. Madison, state fish and game commissioner.

M. H. Kriebel, acting as master of ceremonies, told of the importance of the association and extended an invitation to those present to become members and assist in the work of the association of protecting and propagating the fish and game of Utah.

Mr. Locke said that during 1921 approximately 11,700 persons used the national forests of Utah in which to spend their summer vacations and fishing and hunting. He said that there had been formed a central organization of all of the fish and game associations of the state.

The state fish and game commission planted in 1921 approximately 5,000,000 fish in the streams of Utah, Mr. Madison said and that this year the department expected to plant not fewer than 15,000,000 and that the number would be increased to 20,000,000 in 1923. Mr. Madison also said that the department had started a game farm on a small scale, that it already had 200 ring-necked pheasants, and would add 300 more within a few days.

VARIED SUBJECTS
So excellent were the various films that the spectators were divided in their opinion as to just which one excelled. Some preferred the deer hunt, others the raccoon hunt, still others the wild turkey hunt, while others were ready to vote in favor of Bob White. The scene showing salmon fishing brought forth frequent applause, as did also those depicting surf-fishing.

UINTAH DAIRY PROVIDES MILK

25 Gallons Being Distributed; Cold Snap Stirs Activity

The Uintah dairy rallied to the aid of families of Ogden who are in distress and agreed to donate five gallons of milk daily to the relief commissary for distribution to the needy. This dairy is now donating approximately 25 gallons of milk daily to needy families of Ogden. During the last two months the dairy has been giving 20 gallons a day for distribution through the Children's Aid society to various families throughout the city. The Uintah dairy was one of the first to offer relief to the poor families and their donations daily has done much to keep children in health and in school in families where the heads have been out of employment for some time. The action of the dairy is praised by members of the committee in charge of the relief work.

Other Ogden dairies have also offered daily milk donations daily and in a few days the committee hopes to supply all needy families who call at the commissary.

The cold snap of the past few days has caused the committee members to intensify their activities in gathering in clothing, shoes and provisions for distribution. A greatly increased demand has come through the laying off of men that are on outdoor work. Many tons of coal and scores of sacks of flour have been distributed within the last few days and the city of Ogden is asked to keep up the good work of making donations.

SUGAR EXPERT TALKS TO CLUB

Stephen H. Love of Utah
Idaho Discusses Industrial Conditions

That business men of Utah and Idaho ought to take a greater interest in the beet sugar industry, study its problems and work toward their solution in every way possible was declared this noon by Stephen H. Love of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company in an address at the Ogden Rotary club luncheon.

For 45 minutes the Salt Lake sugar expert discussed the difficulties under which the beet sugar industry has been proceeding for several years, picturing features of the present situation that have thus developed.

He told of the way in which sugar was handled during the war, showing how the cane sugar manufacturers, both the Cuban sugar producers and the American refiners, were given vastly more for their sugar and refining than their previous five year average. In the case of the Cuban sugar producers the price being increased from $1.71 per hundred to 5 dollars per hundred. At the same time, he said, the beet sugar price under the governmental agreement did not give such large increases. Afterward, when the equalization board work was ended, the beet sugar prices were held under control by the federal government but the foreign-made sugar was sold as high as $39 per hundred in America.

That these conditions caused the sugar companies to use up their reserves and with later falling prices, nearly wrecked the beet sugar business was shown by the speaker.

Cooperation of the business men, the farmers and everyone else in the intermountain states to secure support in congress of a reasonable tariff, two cents per pound being suggested, was urged by the speaker. That this is one way of assuring the continuance of this industry, with a fair price for beets was his belief he expressed. On the other hand, he said, if the foreign made sugar can be put on the market without a reasonable tariff for the industry, the beet sugar business there will be ruinous for the industry.
